

A multi-layered approach to data protection

An organization's data is their most valuable asset, yet most enterprises still struggle with classifying and controlling the access to their organization's sensitive data.

To help solve this challenge, Microsoft 365 E5 employs a layered approach to data protection that ensures your sensitive information remains secure and accessible at every touchpoint:

Security management

Optimize with security insights and configuration tools

Threat protection

Correlate threat information and automate responses

Identity and access management

Security starts with great user authentication
